 - I. There were 30 water samples collected in Farmington Hills. The 90th percentile lead result was zero. 29 samples were non detected for lead however there was one home that exceeded the action level for lead. WRC believes the exceedance was related to a bypassed faucet filter and aerators not being maintained. The owner was provided with education materials and shown how to properly clean/maintain his aerators. Follow-up samples from this home resulted in no detection for lead. This home has been sampled in previous years with no lead detected.
